TREES AND PLANTS FROM VERMONT

1934

GEORGE D. AIKEN
Putney, Vermont

Emergency Price List

Because of a growing scarcity in many varieties of trees and plants, and because much higher prices of nursery stock seem a certainty in the near future, this price list is being sent you in lieu of an expensive catalog at this time.

It appears that by Fall 1934, a nursery code may be adopted and values more permanently fixed, permitting one to do business in a more normal manner.

The prices in this list will hold until June 1st, unless another list is issued before then, or unless certain varieties are sold out. In the meantime, order at once, making sure of your discount and of getting your plants at present values.

1932 and 1933 catalogs are still available giving descriptions of nearly all plants listed herein. One of these will be sent you upon request.

Prices listed herein are all F.O.B. Putney. No charge for packing.

TERMS AND CONDITIONS OF SALE
READ CAREFULLY BEFORE ORDERING

Discount—All Spring orders, accompanied by full amount in cash and received not later than March 1, are subject to 10% discount. March orders are subject to 5% discount.

Transportation—Please state how you wish your order shipped. Small orders are ordinarily sent by mail at least expense, the postage being paid by you to the postman upon delivery. Fruit trees and evergreens, large shrubs and shade trees should be sent by express or freight.

Claims—On receipt of stock, examine the shipment carefully, and if it is damaged in transit, notify the agent of the transportation company at once, and enter claim with them for the amount of the damage. If stock is unsatisfactory through any fault of ours, notify us at once. Any complaints regarding the quality of the plants must be made within five days after receipt of stock.

Care of Stock—When stock is received, plant immediately. Where this is impossible, dig a trench and bury the roots with earth until planting time. Fruit trees and dormant shrubs may be left in ordinary cellar storage for a few days, if the roots are kept moist. Never wet the tops of strawberry plants, it rots the crowns.

Guarantee—All stock is guaranteed true to name and free from disease.

Canadian Customers—To avoid delay in shipping your order, write to Secretary of Destructive Insect and Pest Act Advisory Board, Department of Agriculture, Ottawa, for permit to import and give your permit number on the order you send us.

Rates—Where dozen rates are given, six plants of one size and variety will take this rate. For example: 6 Richard Wallace Phlox will sell at the 12 rate, but 2 Richard Wallace, 2 Dawn and 2 B. Comte will take the single rate. Where 10 rates are given, 5 of one size and variety, such as 5 Baldwin Apples, 11/16 in. will take the 10 rate, but 2 Baldwin and 3 Cortland will be sold only at the single rate.

Service Department—Should you desire assistance in the selection of varieties, planning your orchard, shrubbery border, foundation planting or perennial border, we will gladly assist you. Certificate of Inspection accompanies each shipment.

"Perhaps more people have failed in trying to grow the Trailing Arbutus than with any other North American wildflower . . . However it is wholly unnecessary . . . In transplanting thousands of young nursery grown plants each year I have no heavier loss with them than with Violets or other common plants."

4,999 AND YOU!

"Pioneering with Wild Flowers"

Five thousand garden enthusiasts, the first 5,000 to act, are going to take the entire edition of, "Pioneering with Wild Flowers." Here is a book, absolutely new in the annals of gardening, dealing with a subject never before handled, and in a way to assure complete success in the growing of the rare and unusual plants found naturally only in the deepest forests, the hidden bogs and in the isolated sections of our country.

"Pioneering with Wild Flowers" makes easily possible that planting so long wished for but which, though attempted, has not been a success. Think of the dainty native orchids, the Gentians, Trailing Arbutus, the exceedingly rare and difficult ferns, the native cacti, all growing on your grounds, not only growing but thriving and increasing, season after season. And when it is remembered that these rare things essential to the woods, brookside, open hillside or the sandy desert planting no longer need be sought out in their out-of-the-way corners, but can be reasonably secured from individuals specializing in their culture, the long-felt wish for a natural planting looms up as entirely possible and altogether practical. "Pioneering with Wild Flowers" has been written in a clear, concise and understandable way by George D. Aiken, who for years has experimented constantly with these plants previously considered so difficult, yes, considered impossible of growing except in their own carefully selected habitats. Through these years, Mr. Aiken has learned their secrets, their whims and fancies as regards condition of soil, moisture, light and shade. He has set down all of this valuable information for those who would have a natural garden but who, perhaps, have never attempted one because of the apparently unsurmountable difficulties presented. This remarkable book is now in the hands of the printers. It will be available soon, in ample time to begin the planting this fall. The edition is limited to 5,000 copies. The book is being done on a splendid quality of paper, bound sturdily in imitation leather. It will consist of approximately 200 pages with more than 100 actual photographic illustrations. A text book yes, but one which will find its place among the finest in the library. In 28 chapters. "Pioneering with Wild Flowers" covers the subject completely, from, "Why Grow Wild Flowers" through "Soils and Environments." "Propagation and Planting" and finally telling the story of over 300 species in the most minute detail. The price is $2.00 postpaid, to points in the United States.

PIONEERING WITH WILDFLOWERS

A BOOK, new in the annals of gardening, dealing with the subject of native plant gardening, in such a way as to assure complete success in the growing of the rare and unusual plants found naturally only in the deepest forests, the hidden bogs and in the isolated sections of our country.

"Pioneering with Wildflowers" makes easily possible that planting so long wished for but which, though attempted, has not been a sueeess. You can have the dainty native orchids, the Gentians, Trailing Arbutus, the rare and difficult ferns, the native cacti growing on your grounds, and thriving there.

"Pioneering with Wildflowers" has been written by George D. Aiken, the proprietor of this Nursery. Mr. Aiken has spent practically his lifetime in the growing of these plants, many of which have always been considered so difficult. Through these years, he has learned their secrets, their whims and fancies as regards conditions of soil, moisture, light and shade. All of this valuable information he has set down in "Pioneering with Wildflowers." Those who have hesitated to attempt the natural garden because of the apparently unsurmountable dilliculties presented, will find the procedure simple with the help of this book, and the further co-operation of Mr. Aiken who is in a position to supply thrifty plants in all the rare varieties. These will be found listed, and reasonably priced, in this eatalog.

"Pioneering with Wildflowers" is printed on a splendid quality of paper, bound sturdily in imitation leather. It contains 122 pages of text supplemented by 102 photographic illustrations. It is a text book so attraetively done that it will find its place among the finest in the library. In 28 chapters, "Pioneering with Wildflowers" covers the subject, completely, from "Why Grow Wildflowers" through "Soils and Environments," "Propagation and Planting" and finally telling the story of over 300 species in the most minute detail.

The price is $2.00, postpaid to all points in the United States. The book has been so enthusiastieally received that more than half of the edition is already sold and this with praetically no advertising. Mr. Aiken has received many, many letters from authorities in all parts of the country as well as abroad, complimenting him on the interesting and accurate manner in which he has told the story of the wild flowers.
